Halogen National Young Leaders Day - February 29th 2016

Early Monday morning the Newport Primary School Captains Archie, Tom, Otylia and Olivia accompanied by Mrs Smithies, boarded a bus and travelled out to Allphones Arena at Homebush to be a part of the Halogen National Young Leaders Day.

Captains from the Peninsula Community of Schools and students from all over NSW attended.

The first speaker Nathan ‘Dubsy’ Want was an outstanding communicator and mentor. He introduced the theme of “Mastering the Little.”

Ben Austin is one of Australia’s most successful Paralympian swimmers. Ben had his left arm amputated when he was very young. Ben also spoke about the importance of mastering the little and remaining persistent. Ben Austin told the audience that even when something is hard you should keep trying and never give up.

The Commissioner of the NSW Police Force also attended and he made a very memorable speech about small steps and integrity.

All six thousand Young Leaders and teachers left knowing all you need to do is MASTER THE LITTLE.
